

Cascade Springs, —————

The Autumn Get-Away

The walk through the springs is refreshing.

Tired of being couped in with no where exciting to go this fall because school's in session? Take heart, and go do something in an afternoon.

They call it Cascade Springs, and the beautiful terraces that have been made by the cascading waters over the ages has turned this delight into a cool, and enjoyable afternoon drive.

With the Autumn leaves beginning to turn their bright and glorious colors, a drive through the Alpine Loop can bring a refreshing light to the weary. The cool mountain air brings a replenishing feeling as the road winds through the galdses and forests.

Finally at the roads end, there is a parking place with a wonderful view of the valley and the sound of rushing water can be heard.

Following the paths, the hikers comes across the lush cool ponds. Each pond is crossed by beautiful boardwalks, making the hike a little nicer each way.

There are two trails that lead around the entire spring, from the beginning of the springs to the beautiful ponds.

It is a beautiful drive, and a wonderful hike. Make it out to the springs, and enjoy the autumn colors and weather.

Cool pools, and small rushing waterfalls are seen.

Follow the path and find the source of the spring. It's only a 20 minute hike, and the scenery is awesome.

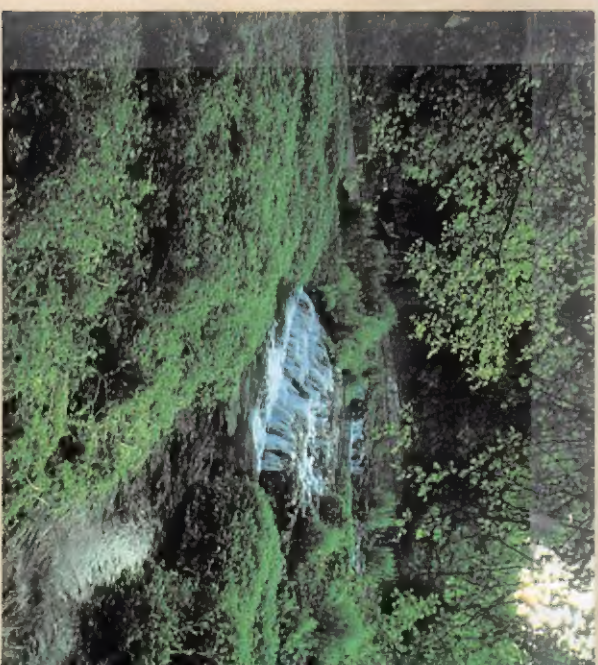

Beautiful waterfalls cascade together and form wonderful sights. The sound of rushing water is fantastic.
